7. Confirm that you are an adult

Thinking Cap Math is currently FREE and you will not be charged for using it! However - since Thinking Cap Math is a child-directed skill, Amazon might require you to provide special permission to use this skill and to confirm that you're an adult. To do that, Amazon will ask you to provide identification details such as your credit card three digit CVV number and to confirm via email or via text message. We apologize for this inconvenience, but it is built into Amazon and is required the first time you enable a child-directed skill. After you provide the identification information, Thinking Cap Math skill will be available on your mobile device.

8. Start using Thinking Cap Math

To start using Thinking Cap Math, tap the round blue button at the Home screen of the Alexa app... and say, "start Thinking Cap".

Enjoy using Thinking Cap Math! We will be super glad to provide any assistance you might need, as well as to hear from you about how much you're enjoying the program :).
